Hongrona, April 9TH, 1886.

The Vagrants Bill, as will be seen by the proceedings at the last meeting of t Legislative Council, has been shelved. The ostensible reason assigned for this course is that if the clause rendering the sale of lottery tickets illegal were brought into operation the convictions under it would be so numerous that the gaol would not contain all the prisoners. The Bill is accordingly to stand over until a Committee has reported on the capacity of the gael. We have never before seen the Legislative Council so remarkably cautious, and with so little cause That the tickets of the Manila and other lotteries would be sold after the passing of the Ordinance there can be no doubt, but the sales would not be made as a rule in view of the constable, and the number of convictions obtained, we have no hesitation in saying, would form but an inappreciable increase in the number of prisoners ordinarily in The MAPS and PLANS have been mostly confinement. In any case we are at a loss to conceive how the Committee can say whethe: the good will accommodate the sellers of lottery tickets or not until they have some basis to go upon in estimating what the number of convictions will be.

The Hon. P. Ryrie was perfectly frank-inhis defence of the Manila lottery. He says he buys a ticket himself now and then, and by some requirement of proof of guilt it he does not see why the sale should be stopped. There are, we imagine, very few of the subject. persons in the colony who do not sail in the same boat with Mr. RYRIE, so far as buying tickets is concerned, but at the same time the general concensus of opinion must condemn the lottery as being against public policy and a thing which ought to be condemned by the Government, always supposing that gambling in any form is recognised as a fair Scales of Commissions and Charges adopted by it should be lawful for his employer to gamble in a lottery. Indeed the Manile lottery is vastly more opposed to public policy than fantan. In the former the commission is is absolutely lost to the colony, while in funtan the commission charged by the keepers of the tables is ten per cent, and the money merely changes bands and remains in the colony. The Manila lottery is a form of gambling affected by the well-to-do classes. while funtum is played by the poorer classes; both are equally gambling, and the Government can hardly condone in the rich what it Hall, from to-day till Monday next between ten condemns in the poor.

If Mr. Rynze's argument be followed out to its logical conclusion, and if there be no barm in the Manila lottery, why should not the Government derive a revenue from this source itself, instead of allowing a foreign Government to derive it? The profit made by the Philippine Government from the Manila lottery is somewhere about $500,000 per annum, of which a very large proportion is derived from this colony. If a lottery were started by the Hongkong Govern- posal of the French Minister who, we hear, is ment probably it a few years' time the proceeding to Korez to conclude a Treaty. profits would reach a similar figure, and works, for a new gaol, the sanitary works, and upon being searched, six bags of saltpetre and the Central School without the necessity were found forward, and nearly a hundred pistols of his own. A glance at this reveals to of raising any money on loan. Of course we were discovered secreted in the coal bunkers. As do not seriously advance the proposition the officials. The pistols are of a very antithat this should be done, but if the Legisla- quated type, and are evidently of German tive Council solemnly express their approval of the Manila lottery by rejecting an Ordinance on the ground that it might interfere with the sale of the tickets in that lottery a resolution to increase the revenue by been equally divided between the Baxter Misthe establishment of a similar lottery would sion and Father Burghignoli's Orphanage for not be a long step for them to take, were it not that the certain disapproval of the Secretary of State would stand in the way. We believe we are correct in saying that this list was prepared by Chinese, and that there was no reason to suppose that the men mentioned were in any way concorned in the riots beyond the fact that they were said to belong to the Triad Society, and even of this no proof was taken. It was sufficient for any man at ber of the Triad Society to secure his banish ment, and there can be little doubt the occasion was seized in more than one instance to gratify private revenge in that way. If the real instigators of the riot could have been banished it would have been an excellent thing, but no good can come of banishing men against whom there is no proof of guilt beyond the mere word of a paid informer The provision giving the Governor power to banish appears to us to be a necessary one to maintain, but if it could be hedged about would be more consistent with the interests

AMATEUR DRAMATIC PERFORM-ANCE AT THE THEATRE ROYAL. The Hongkong Amateur Dramatic Club gave their third performance of the season at the Theatre Royal, City Hall, on Wednesday night His Excellency the Acting Governor and Mrs. Marsh. The counter attraction offered by Chiarini's Circus, which opened for the first time that night, and the fact that one of the pieces had recently been produced here before were sufficient to account for the attendance being smaller than is usually the case at the Palgrave Simpson's comedy in one act entitled "Heads or Taile," a light and sketchy trifle Wrangleworth, an opulent manufacturer, has subject for legislation. PEKING.

The race for wealth is keen up here and for a place not opened to trade the amount of business put through is something quite remarkable. Ministers and Secretaries have had a splendid time for many years among the curios, and some of them have furnished their nests well with the spoils of the capital, but of late years the unmiticated trader-one cannot call him "legitimate" in Peking—has been having his innings, and the cry is still they come. Meeting seven cartloads of curios in the street the other day, I was curious enough to enquire whence and whither? and was informed they were bought by orders of an American millionaire in Japan, who employed an agent here simply to sweep the market of everything for which money would be accepted. If proper boats were constructed to run on this section of the river, the trade of Ichang would increase several hundred per cent. The boats needed should be of about 600 tons carrying capacity, on [ not more than 5 feet draft. Their power should basufficient to enable them to steam thirteen miles per hour on a not excessive consumption of coal. The question of draft can easily be brought about by using steel in the construction of the engines. builers, hull, etc., by which strength is combined with lightness. Twin-screw propulsion, and great beam, would most likely be the best form of steamer to construct. The engines could be built on the triple-expansion system, by which a great saving of coal and space is effected. Two boats should be built, and should leave Hankow and Ichang on schedule time, and should arrive at these respective ports on the schedule time. This would give confidence in them to native merchants, who would thus be sure of their shipments arriving as advised. Trade would increase, and the country above Ichang would be more opened up.

There are no difficulties attending the navigation of the Yangtsze between Hankow and I shang, except the low water in the winter United States Navy. months. Intricate channels and dangerous rocks there are none, or at least very few, and the dangers of navigation are no more than they are on any ordinary river. Of the river above Ichang we do not speak. It is known to be most difficult of unvigation and if boats were to be run to Chungking, they would have to be of special construction, and of speed not less than 20 miles per hour. The risks, too, would be considerable. But on the Hankow-Ichang line! no such difficulties are to be found. The current is hardly ever over five miles per hour, and this only during floods. An average of about two-and-half, or three miles, is the general flow, sometimes even less. If will thus be seen that the question of running boats between these two ports is very easily solved, and if those tain of trade in the Szechnen district by running proper boats to Ichang, they would find their profits would soon be in excess of their most sanguine expectations. The country above Ichang is without doubt the richest in China musk, silk, wax, tip, copper, saltpetre, coal of splendid quality, valuable medicines, etc., etc. was afforded the trade would largely develop. He was breathing hard and with difficulty. and when Savu saw that both could not be saved she relaxed her clasp, sank, and was drowned.

We (Engineering) understand that a company has been started in California to manufacture boiler liquid from the leaves of the eucalyptus tree, and twelve tons of leaves are used daily in the process. The leaves are put into a set of special boilers, or still, and the juice extracted from them by boiling. The liquid finally obtained is bottled; and when put into ordinary boilers along with the water, it prevents "scaling" or reduces the "scale" already on them. The fluid is also said to prevent rusting and pitting in marine boilers, and to have been adopted by the

A Pittsburg paper says that an instrument, called by its maker the "slammophon" (probably from the Greek slummus, to bang the door, and phonos, to make a noise!), is attached to the door of the Clarke studio, Oakland. The slammophone, which is something like an Æ lian harp, is fastened against the door in such a way that a series of pendant hummers strike the strings when the door is opened or closed. The coming or departing guest is therefore greeted by a concourse of sweet sounds of his own making, and, until informed, cannot for the life of him tell where the weird music comes from.

The Widdin correspondent of the St. Petersburg Novosti has sent to that newspaper the meeting with the enemy. During some time exercises, parades, and reviews she took part did all she could to encourage her comrades, and they, in return, unanimously voted to her the company's medal for bravery. When, in consequence of the war coming to an end, the militia was dispersed, she went to Soffs, and was there presented to Prince Alexander, who awarded to her a second decoration for bravery. She then returned to Viddin, her place of domicile before the war, where she acts as servant to an old lady. She says that should the Servians begin another war she will again fight against them, but gard to the commerce that, with British energy in her woman's attire, for it is not worth while

POST-OFFICE NOTICES

When Correspondence has been mis-sent or delayed (both of which are liable to happen occasionally) all that the addressee need do is to note on the cover, Sent to ----, or Received at 7.p.m., or as the case may be, and forward it, without any other writing whatever, to the Postmaster-General. This should be acted on the first time cause of complaint occurs; it is a mistake to let such matters' pass for fear of giving trouble, a course which generally gives more trouble in the end.

LOCAL DELIVERY .- No delivery is attempted on board Ship, at the Peak, Kowloon, Aberdeac, &c., nor at any private house (even thouseh named in the address) when there is a place of business nearor, at which delivery can be effected,

The authorised List of Mails issued in connection with this paper is the one published twice each day in our Extra, which is always corrected to a much later hour than that given
